

LIVE · UNION DISPATCH NATIONWIDE

Find the work before you call the hall.

A live national job board for the union trades — every hall's open calls, scale, and per diem in one place. Free to every member: no paywall, no logins.

Used by 18,000 tradespeople in eleven weeks. Built and paid for out of pocket by one working IBEW journeyman.

1,843

Open calls

7,433

Hands needed

698

Locals tracked

5

Trades, US & Canada

17.9K

Users in 11 weeks

There is no defined way to get on a union job

Some halls run recorded phone job lines. Some use apps. Some post PDFs. Some dispatch in person only. Every local does it differently, and nothing connects — so a hand three states away has no practical way to see what's open.

7,000 in, 10,000 out

Electricians entering the trade each year against those retiring — the pipeline already runs behind demand.

NECA estimate, via riversidecompany.com/insights/electrician-supply.

88% of firms

Report difficulty filling hourly craft positions — concentrated where development outpaces local labor.

AGC survey data, as reported by tradeworxusa.com

Word of mouth

Construction hiring runs on informal networks — a hand without the network simply misses the call.

Construction Management & Economics, doi 10.1080/01446190903361912

~10%

union share of construction

Organized labor holds a small slice of the market and more work than it can man. Shortages and idle out-of-work books exist at the same time in different places — a matching problem, not a headcount problem. Every call left unfilled is work handed to the non-union 90%.

Every open call. One place. Free.

No paywall · no logins · free to members

The screenshot shows the TRAMPHEREPRO.COM website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links: Job Board, Daily Update, Pay Calculator, Resources, and Contact. A status indicator says 'Live · updated daily'. Below the navigation bar, a section titled 'Top calls right now 15 locals with the most hands' displays a list of 8 items. Each item consists of a rank, a union name and number, a location, and a number of hands. The items are as follows:

Rank	Union	Location	Hands
1	IBEW 1105	Newark, OH	226
2	IBEW 613	Atlanta, GA	201
3	IBEW 481	Indianapolis, IN	180
4	IBEW 494	Milwaukee, WI	174
5	IBEW 124	Kansas City, MO	170
6	IBEW 405	Cedar rapids, IA	127
7	IBEW 26	Lanham, MD	116
8	IBEW 683	Columbus, OH	115

The bottom of the list is partially cut off, showing 'IBEW 1426' with '108' hands.

Nightly dispatch sweep

Every night the system calls the halls, reads the postings, and publishes what's open.

Structured, comparable data

Contractor, classification, hands needed, project, scale, per diem, schedule — one format across 698 locals.

Five trades, two countries

IBEW Indoor, IBEW Lineman, UA Plumbers & Pipefitters, Ironworkers, UBC Millwrights.

Tools no one else has

A daily written briefing, a per-diem board, and a paycheck calculator ranking every local's full package.

Built for the road

Mobile-first, English and Spanish, send a local's calls to a buddy in one tap.

Eleven weeks. Zero marketing spend.

Google Analytics · 6 Jul – 21 Sept 2026

17,917

Active users

36,173

Sessions

3:37

Avg. engagement per session

9,658

30-day active users

HOW THEY FIND IT — SESSIONS BY CHANNEL

Organic search

22,044

Direct

10,280

Organic social

2,841

Referral

1,336

61%

of sessions arrive by organic search — members go looking for this

2x

sessions per user, with 3,911 returning — they come back

~600 → 2,750

weekly active users, peaking in early September

Nearly four minutes per session. This is people planning where to work, not skimming a page.

Built by the customer. Funded out of pocket.

Noah — “Spanky the Sparky”

Union Journeyman Tradesman

178K+ followers across his channels — distribution to the exact audience the board serves

Spark The Trade podcast host — interviews industry leadership, including NECA's CEO

On the tools still actively working in the field as a journeyman wireman

Free to members, always

No paywall and no logins — a member never pays to see a job call. The cost has to be carried by sponsors and partners instead.

A single point of failure

One person's nights and weekends now carry a service 17,900 tradespeople have used. Voluntary donations cover a fraction of the cost.

Demand outpacing capacity

Weekly users grew more than fourfold over eleven weeks. The halls, trades, and members asking to be added exceed what one person can build.

Four priorities, in order

PRIORITY 01 • COVERAGE

Every hall, every trade

Complete the phone-line capture pipeline so halls that dispatch only by recording are included, and bring the remaining building trades onto the board.

PRIORITY 02 • RELIABILITY

Infrastructure members can trust

Hosting, monitoring, and data-quality checks so the board is accurate every morning — thousands of hands now plan their week around it.

PRIORITY 03 • REACH

Into every hand's pocket

A mobile app with call alerts, full bilingual coverage, and outreach so members and halls know the board exists.

PRIORITY 04 • CAPACITY

More than one pair of hands

Dedicated time on the project and help with data verification, so the board no longer depends on one person's nights and weekends.

Every dollar goes to keeping dispatch information open, accurate, and free to the members who need it.

Fund the board. Keep it free.

The hardest part is already built. This is running infrastructure with 17,900 tradespeople behind it — not a concept seeking capital to prove itself.

OPTION 01

Direct funding

A grant or annual commitment covering infrastructure and development against the four priorities.

OPTION 02

Institutional partnership

Locals or trade bodies sharing dispatch data directly and backing the board as shared infrastructure.

OPTION 03

Sponsorship & ad placement

Paid placement on the board for tool and boot brands, union suppliers, and any tradesperson-friendly company — plus in-kind engineering time or hosting credits.

Independence is preserved. TrampHereBro has no affiliation with any union, employer, or government body, and funding does not change that — no funder gets control over what appears on the board.

trampherebro.com

Noah · "Spanky the Sparky" · trampherebro.com/contact